

women of wind of ENERGY

Woman of the Year Nomination Form

Each year, Women of Wind Energy (WoWE) recognizes one woman who truly stands out for her leadership, inspiration, and significant contributions to the expansion and improvement of the wind energy industry. She may be the leader of a company or organization or work behind-the-scenes to resolve critical wind energy issues. Woman of the Year nominees may serve in legal, technical, business, advocacy or other wind energy roles.

Nominations are due by April 15, 2011. The next Woman of the Year Award will be presented at the WoWE luncheon held during the WINDPOWER conference in Anaheim, CA, May 22-25, 2011.

Nomination Criteria

- The nominee must stand out as a leader who has contributed significantly to the expansion and improvement of the wind energy industry
- She must be working in wind energy in North America
- She must be respected as a role model for other women

Nomination Instructions

Name of Nominee: _____

Title: _____

Company/Organization: _____

Name of Lead Nominator: _____

Phone: _____ Email: _____

Names of Other Nominators (to show support for a specific nominee): _____

Nomination Essay

- What is the present role of the nominee in the wind energy field?
- What is her educational and professional background, and how long has she been in the wind industry?
- Why do you feel this woman should be recognized as an outstanding wind energy leader? What is the significance of her accomplishments? What is the degree of difficulty, innovation and/or dedication shown in her sustained wind career?
- Please enclose other materials that support the nomination, including a résumé or professional vitae, as possible, or media clippings.

We encourage electronic submissions to awards@womenofwindenergy.org. Applications can also be mailed to Women of Wind Energy, 155 Water St., Brooklyn, NY 11201.